Discover the Vietnamese countryside

Enjoy a full day close encounter with the rural villages inhabitants, craftsmen and farmers from the Mekong Delta. Explore the farms, rice fields, lotus fields, fish farms and taste plain and delicious meals using the farm products.

Your tour outside the touristy tracks will start by some shopping in the simple Phung Hiep rural market and will end by a visit of main pagodas in Soc Trang.

An exclusive program

- Leaving at 8 am from Can Tho, you will go south to Hau Giang province.

- Arriving in Phung Hiep, you will discover its rural market once famous for the abundant game (snakes, turtles, frogs, crocodiles and even monkeys...). Nowadays it mainly offers typical products (hundred-year eggs, betel-nuts and betel...). From the market hall you will have a nice view on its floating market, lively at sunrise, which is known to be the oldest of the delta.

- A few kilometers to the south, you will arrive in Cong Doi village. Ong Su will be glad to have you as guests for a cup of tea. Depending on the present day activity of this catholic village, you will meet some craftsmen who will demonstrate tofu making, vietnamese hat handcrafting osier making... You will explore the rice fields and enjoy your lunch under a water coconut made bungalow. In front the lotus field, you will have a tasteful lunch cooked using farm products (depending on availability : banana flowers or lotus root salad, king prawns, fish...).

- As the beginning of the afternoon could be warm, perhaps you will not be able to resist a nap in a tempting hammock rocked by the mild wind of the delta. Later on, you will visit Soc Trang town and its most famous pagodas : the khmer pagoda known as "Bat pagodas" and the Ceramics pagoda. Finally, you will take the way back to Can Tho and arrive around 6 pm.
